

What is a nanny?

A Service You Can Trust
Sharon Van Rensburg

In the realm of childcare, a nanny is a true professional who operates within the confines of your own home, providing exceptional care for your little ones. The role of a nanny can be tailored to suit the age and unique needs of your child.

There are various types of nannies available, such as nanny, nanny housekeeper, maternity nurse, night nanny, rota nanny, holiday nanny, and live-in or live-out nanny.

A nanny's responsibilities may include preparing delicious meals, maintaining a tidy household, chauffeuring the child to appointments and classes, supervising homework, arranging delightful playdates, and managing appointments. The age of your child and the specific support you require will determine the ideal nanny service for your family.

Thank you for reading

www.goodeggchildcare.com

Nanny hours & Wage

A Service You Can Trust

Sharon Van Rensburg

Nannies dedicate themselves to their work for a span of 8-12 hours each day, five days a week. However, if the working hours do not exceed 10 hours per day and are agreed upon during the job advertisement, nannies may work for 6 days a week.

The beauty of being a nanny lies in the flexibility of their working hours, as long as the family considers this and ensures that the nanny receives alternative time off. After all, the well-being of the children is the nanny's top priority, and in order to provide the best care, they need to have sufficient rest days.

If you'd like to delve into the current rates for nannies, feel free to discuss it with me. Generally, nanny wages are determined by factors such as experience, age, qualifications, and the unique skills they can bring to the family.

Thank you for reading

www.goodeggchildcare.com

Duties and Responsibilities

- Supervising homework
- Keeping Kids Safe
- Laundry for children
- Planning meals for children
- Arranging playdates
- Changing nappies
- Planning activities
- Preparing meals
- NAPS
- Perform light housekeeping tasks as needed
- Homework
- Physical care of the children
- Arts and Crafts
- Bathing and dressing
- Organising appointments
- Playing educational games
- Preparing children for school
- School drop off and pick up
- School runs
- Shopping relating to the children
- Transporting the children
- Travel with the family

